JAMES CATLEDGE TRAVELS TO BOSTON MA TO TEACH NET WORTH PRINCIPALS TO COMMUNITY LEADERS

Boston MA: August 14, 2007 – In his second visit in less than 12 months, James Catledge was in the greater Boston area to teach and train on the unique system his company, Net Worth Solutions utilizes to help families understand how money works and how to build net worth.

Arriving on the company's private aircraft, Impact One, James Catledge along with Chief Marketing Office David J. Brimley landed in Boston to present the mission and vision of Net Worth Solutions. James Catledge is focused on helping families understand how money works and teaching specific principals of living a debt free lifestyle.

James Catledge commented that "our message about helping families learn how money works and what they can do to build their net worth is vital. The entire country needs our message and families in New England are no exception". Speaking about Net Worth Solutions' growth in the greater Boston area Catledge said "I am very excited that we have such a great group of leadership in this state. I know that our company will help people from this area as well as the entire eastern seaboard".

Joined by senior board member John Thomson, James Catledge spent close to two hours with the audience. They were eager to hear his message about how they can help their families and others where they live.

James Catledge personally founded Net Worth Solutions in January 2003 after a very successful career with World Financial Group (WFG). His focus is to lead a revolution on teaching families about how money works and how financial independence is within reach of anyone willing to follow his proven system. James Catledge is a master teacher in all facets of financial planning. James Catledge holds a degree in communications from Brigham Young University. James Catledge currently resides in the exclusive community of Lake Las Vegas in Henderson Nevada with his wife Tiffany and their 6 children.
